PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

Colombo, May 2, 1906.

The following Resolution of the Government of India is republished. —

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY

GENERAL.

Hydrabad, the 27th April 1906.

RESOLUTION.

No 3244-G.—A report by the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1883 (V of 1883), on the working of the Act during the calendar year 1905, is published for general information.

No. 1132-P, dated Calcutta, the 26th April 1906.

From—H. G. Gurney, Esq., Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

I have the honour to submit, for the information of the Government of India, the Annual Report of the Patent Office during the calendar year 1905.

2. The office, at 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta, has been in my charge throughout the year, except between 5th May and 18th June when Mr. J. C. Shields, of the Indian Telegraph Department, officiated.

3. During the year 595 applications were made for leave to file specifications and 500 specifications were filed. The total number of applications under the present Act has been 28,305, and of specifications 7,893. In the previous year there was a temporary falling-off in the number of applications received, but the figures this year show a reversion to the normal line of progress. Compared with 1904 the increase in the number of applications has been large, viz., 144, and there have been 32 more specifications filed. The amount received as concessive fees, by payment of which priority privileges are kept in force, has increased by Rs. 1,500 and the total income of the office is better by Rs. 6,633.

4. As usual the applications covered a very wide field. There is, however, no marked new direction in which invention has been exercised though the great preponderance in railway and textile industries still persists.

5. Of the 595 applications made during the year, 67 related to inventions that priori facto did not appear to be novel. In accordance with the practice that is now well established, the office of public knowledge was pointed out to the applicant, and he was given an opportunity of amending his

If there be any objection made to giving the names of a female, write the word "female" (adding her relationship to some member of the family) and fill up the rest of the column for her as usual. If an individual has not yet been named, enter the word "indent." If any female is unwilling to give her own or her husband's name you must ask some one else for the information. When you have entered all the persons in a house, you will leave one space blank before making the entries for the next house.

Enter the exact occupation and avoid vague terms such as "service" or "writing" or "in house." For example in the case of labour, say whether in the fields, or in a coal mine, or in a factory, or in a mill or in a factory, or elsewhere, &c. In the case of agriculturists distinguish between persons who receive rent and those who pay rent. If a person makes the census he will be entered as "master and cultivator" of them. 5. You must have completed all the entries in your book by the 1st of 1911.

3.—The second round.—(Final Enumeration).

6. On the evening of the 10th March, at the time of lighting lamps, you will take this book as already filled in and again visit every house in your block in order. Before you start on your round, you must see that you are personally accompanied to the house where you are stopping.

7. You must examine the chief member of each family and read over to him one by one the names of the members of his household entered in the schedule, taking care, as you read each name, whether the person is present in the house or not. You must also ask him particularly whether any such persons have come or any child has been born. You must strike out the entries for persons who are not present, and fill up the form for any person now in the house who was not there when the first visit was made, such as guests, infants newly-born, and others. You are to consider as present all persons living in or taking their meals from the house, even though any of them may be out fishing or working in the fields or the like.

8. The fresh entries mentioned in the last rule must be made on the blank pages at the end of your book. In each case you will enter the number of the house to which the fresh entries relate, writing under it the word "acquired."

9. You must make no alteration whatever in any entry against the name of any person, unless you have to strike out the entries altogether, because he or she is no longer present. When you strike out a person, you must draw a line completely through all the entries following that person's name, and not merely through column 3.

10. Whilst going on the second round, you must visit every house marked "empty" in your book, to see whether any person is then living there.

11. You must also go to the dispensaries, wells, encampments and landing places, where travellers rest for the night, and enter all particulars in the schedule for the way-farers, boatmen, pilgrims, and others you may find there, and strike out the entries already made against persons who are not then present. You should ascertain from the village headman whether any members of a wandering tribe have come to your block. If so, you must go and examine them in the houses provided above.

12. If any house-holder in your block has been given a concrete schedule, you must collect it on the morning of the 11th March and, after seeing that columns have been duly filled in according to the rules, you must stick it into your book, next to the last schedule filled up by you.

13. You will then (on the morning of the 11th March) go without any delay to the place appointed by your supervisor, and after your book has been inspected by him, you will enter in the abstract printed on the inside of the cover, the number of houses and persons, male and female, in your block.

14. According to the Census Act, every person is legally bound to furnish you with such information as is necessary for filling up the schedule, but you are forbidden to ask for any information not required for the purpose of the Census, or for motives, the content of any person's secrets. Any communitarian entering money on any pretext connected with the Census must himself take to parliament under the Census Act or the Penal Code.

45. A Student may present himself for Examination in all or any of the Subjects I, II, III, and IV of Part I of the Bar Examination at any time after admission. Without the special leave of the Council no Student shall present himself for Part II unless he has kept his Terms.

51. There shall be a Board of Examiners in each subject, viz., a Reader, with such Associates selected by the Council, not being members of the Staff of Readers and Assistant Readers, as the Council may determine.

52. Examinations for Call to the Bar shall be by written papers, and by such and/or questions (if any) as the Examiners may think desirable.
